With respect to: the unauthorized use of the name and image of EVERGENT Investments

Dear investors,

EVERGENT Investments informs you of the increase in fraudulent attempts and the diversification of methods used by unauthorized individuals who unlawfully use the Company's name and image to induce individuals to transfer funds under the pretext of promoting investment offers or the purchase of EVER shares.

EVERGENT Investments reaffirms that it firmly dissociates itself from any such practices and recommends that all investors exercise caution and do not pursue supposed investment proposals transmitted by phone or any other means of communication on the company's behalf. We emphasize that the management and employees of EVERGENT Investments do not initiate such steps and do not request any data or information for the purpose of promoting such investments.

Furthermore, any activities related to phone marketing, as well as call campaigns carried out directly or through agents, call-centers or other empowered entities, have never been and are not part of the company's scope of activity.

EVERGENT Investments takes any situation of this nature very seriously, it monitors reported cases carefully and promptly carries out the necessary measures, including notifying competent authorities.

Moreover, we urge investors to remain vigilant, to carefully verify any received investment proposal and to notify competent authorities with respect to any suspicious activity or fraud attempt.

Respectfully,

Cătălin Iancu
