Important events to be reported: Launch of Vacanza.ro digital travel platform

The management of Christian '76 Tour S.A. ("Christian Tour" or the "Company") informs shareholders and investors that, on 26 October 2026, it launched Vacanza.ro, a new online travel platform dedicated to individual flight and accommodation bookings. The launch marks the first stage of the Company's broader Vacanza Trip Builder project and an initial milestone in implementing the digital development strategy presented to investors at the time of the initial public offering.

The development of Vacanza.ro is aligned with the investment priorities communicated during the IPO, which included allocating part of the capital raised to technology development and digitalization. The launch advances the Company's objective of building a scalable digital travel ecosystem that complements its tour operating activities and physical and partner distribution networks. It also follows the progress on online travel agency capabilities and the AI-assisted Trip Builder described in the Company's H1 2026 report.

In its initial phase, Vacanza.ro operates as an online travel agency (OTA), enabling users to search for and book flights and accommodation through separate booking flows. The platform provides access to flights from numerous airlines and a portfolio of more than three million properties worldwide. Connections to multiple international travel content providers enable users to compare options according to their destination, travel dates and preferences.

Vacanza.ro will serve as the foundation for the subsequent development of Vacanza Trip Builder, through which Christian Tour intends to extend the platform's functionality from booking individual travel services to planning complete, personalized journeys. Planned capabilities include AI-assisted recommendations for flights, accommodation, routes, daily itineraries, attractions and restaurants, based on users' travel ideas and preferences.

The artificial intelligence component is currently under development and internal testing and is intended to be integrated progressively. Features being explored include interaction with an AI travel consultant and itinerary generation based on a destination, type of experience or preferences expressed by the user. These capabilities represent subsequent development stages and are not part of the platform's initial launch.

The launch of Vacanza.ro expands Christian Tour's online distribution capabilities and supports the strategy announced at IPO to complement its existing travel offering with digital services for customers who prefer to organize their own trips.
