intraday trades) to have in a single screen information of interest, customizable drag & drop interface, "heat maps" for quick and comparative viewing of the historical performance of companies in the index, data export for offline analysis, modern solution for creating charts.

"The voice of investors is in the center of Bucharest Stock Exchange activity and we want to offer them the best technological solutions to use when building their investment strategies, as well as to be up to date with the latest information on the evolution of instruments they follow. The terminal is a real help to all those interested in investments and BVB is focusing on accelerating and adopting tools that are as complex and useful to investors, to make the investment process easier and more accessible", said Radu Hanga, BVB Chairman of the Board.

Very useful are the technical analysis elements, the terminal comprising dozens of indicators, comparator for instruments and indices, price alerts, customizable lists with financial instruments, the book order on several price levels, trading charts and current trading data for all types of instruments and all markets. It is also possible to create a virtual portfolio for those who want to test various investment strategies without actually investing their money in those instruments.

"Technology plays an increasingly important role in the operation of the stock market and it is important to help investors access the market with the help of technology. At the same time, we analyze different technological solutions to facilitate the access of issuers to the market, the process of listing different instruments can be easier using technology. We have already taken the first steps at the level of the Bucharest Stock Exchange Group and soon, through the Central Securities Depository, we will offer brokers a new service for identification and profiling their clients for 100% online opening investment accounts", stated Adrian Tanase, BVB CEO.

Exchange Live can be tested for free until May 22nd, 2021 by any person who creates a user account on Bucharest Stock Exchange website (www.bvb.ro).

The suite of applications developed by Bucharest Stock Exchange includes its own Arena trading system, extended through the ArenaXT, online trading platform, the BVB Trading smartphone applications for retail investors, as well as the Arena Post-Trading platforms for settlement and corporate actions, developed by BVB for the Central Securities Depository.
